

Mandalay rapidly growing

MANDALAY at Beveridge continues to lead the way for Melbourne's home hunters as works progress on the estate's on-site display village.

Earmarked for completion by October this year, the display village will showcase home designs from a range of national and boutique builders including Metricon Homes, Simonds Homes Now, TBN, Burbank, 3D Homes, Colex Homes and Snowden Homes.

Metricon Homes' display is nearing completion with Simonds Homes and Homes Now not far behind. Construction across the village is continuing to schedule.

The 2000-home site development has quickly asserted itself as the north's benchmark community with sales soaring since the first release of land last year and an impressive range of infrastructure and on-site amenity planned for the estate.

Mandalay will offer residents extensive onsite facilities including a proposed primary school, commercial precinct and the exclusive Club Mandalay with a gymnasium, swimming pool, tennis courts, café, bistro and much more.

Mandalay sales and marketing manager, Crystall Mousios, said Mandalay has raised the standard for estates within the northern growth corridor as the development continues to experience unprecedented interest and impressive sales.

"Buyers have been eager for a display centre with contemporary designs within the northern growth corridor and we look forward to servicing this demand at Mandalay," Ms Mousios said.

"At Mandalay's display village buyers will be spoilt for choice when choosing the best builder and design for their needs.

"We are seeing a definite trend towards inner-northern residents looking to upgrade with larger land sizes and more affordable options just a short drive up the freeway."
